

Georgette and Cato Johnson YMCA

What makes the project stand out:

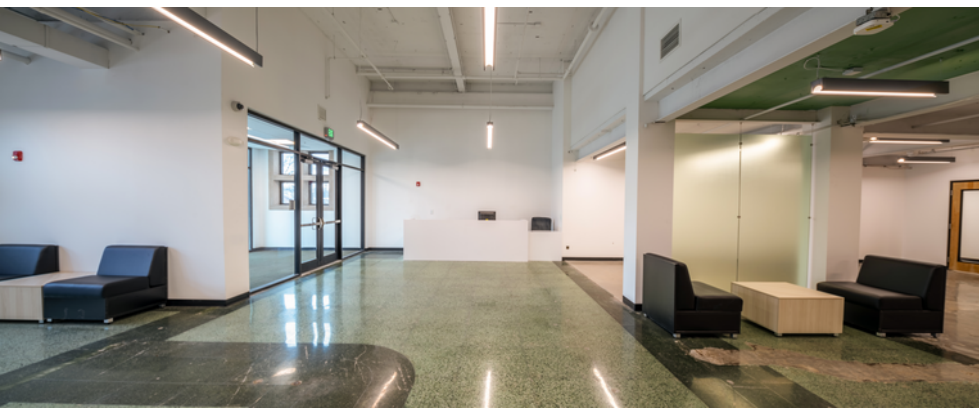

The former Davis YMCA in Whitehaven had been a beloved neighborhood amenity for over 60 years and experienced many additions of varying sizes and architectural styles. This replacement facility has transformed an aging, disjointed cluster of outdated buildings into a vibrant hub of health, wellness, and education. The reimagined YMCA in Whitehaven is rich in amenities and spaces for connection that will continue to serve the community for decades to come.

Alcenia's Restaurant Renovation

What makes the project stand out:

Many years before billions of dollars in development would be planned for the Pinch District, Alcenia's restaurant made national news with bold flavor from a small shop along a quiet stretch of North Main. The story and successful renovation of Alcenia's is the truest representation of a personal tragedy leading to community triumph. A business founded on the healing power of food has blossomed into an internationally acclaimed restaurant building community and economic opportunity in Memphis.

City of Memphis Municipal Complex 2

What makes the project stand out:

The City of Memphis purchased the Coca-Cola Bottling Company site in 2019. For 70 years the 18-acre property was the location of the former Coca-Cola offices, bottling plant, and warehouses. It is being converted to the new City of Memphis Municipal Complex 2. The site is centrally located and adjacent to the Iconic Liberty Bowl Stadium, the former Memphis Coliseum, and the new Memphis Sports and Events Center. An important goal of this multi-phased project is to adaptively reuse the buildings on the former Coca-Cola Site, revitalizing these buildings into productive and efficient new assets for The City and the surrounding community.
